Decline in foodgrains output

1706. SHRI ABANI ROY: Will the Minister of AGRICULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that there is a sharp decline in output of foodgrains during 2002-03 as reported in the Hindu' dated 12th February, 2003;

(b) if so, the factors responsible for sharp decline in output of foodgrains;

(c) whether Government in consultation with State Government/NGOs propose to formulate strategy to boost production of foodgrains and also to improve output; and

(d) if so, the details thereof?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI HUKUMDEO NARAYAN YADAV): (a) Yes, Sir. According to the second Advance Estimates released by Government on 10.2.2003, and quoted in the Hindu dated 12th February, 2003, the total foodgrains production during 2002-03 is likely to be 183.17 million tones which is 28.85 million tones or 13.61% less than the record production of 212.02 million tones in 2001-02.

(b) The weak monsoon and the consequent moisture stress prevailing during the monsoon and the post-monsoon period has adversely affected the agricultural production during Kharif and Rabi seasons of 2002-03.

(c) and (d) The agriculture production in the country is greatly influenced by the extent of rainfall and its temporal and spatial spread because about 60% of the net area sown is dependent on rains for water. However, the production of various crops shows a long-term upward trend, albeit with fluctuations.

In order to further improve the performance of the agriculture sector, the Government have taken a number of initiatives such as promotion of watershed development programmes, emphasis on developing and increasing availability of agricultural credit, Market Information Network, National Agricultural Insurance Scheme etc. Besides, the Government also encourage farmers to increase production through price policy which includes implementation of Minimum Support Price and Market Intervention Schemes. Apart from these, the Government have also adopted macro-management mode for providing assistance to the States. The Macro-Management Scheme integrates 27 schemes into one for supplementing and complementing the efforts of State Governments through work plans. This gives flexibility to States to address specific problems faced by them depending on local requirements, avoid overlapping in the contents of different schemes and aim at all round development of agriculture. Since agriculture is a State subject, the Union Government are implementing the above-mentioned schemes with the cooperation of the State Governments.
